World Book Day 2024

Learning in Beech Class

'The Wild'

The children began the day exploring the book's message and looking closely at the incredible illustrations.

The children watched a video of the author being interviewed and took part in some hot seating.

Throughout the day, the children created their very own collage with printing elements inspired by the illustrations in the book.

Finally, the children wrote their own Kenning poems about the animal they chose for their collage.

These were then added to their art.

Learning in Maple Class

'The Boy, the Mole, the Fox and the Horse'

In the morning Year 5 took part in a reading lesson, introducing the text. They made initial predictions and asked questions about the front cover. Then the class explored the language and vocabulary used throughout the book.

The children then looked at a specific part of the book where the characters are discussing the wild and the children wrote setting descriptions, exploring how to show/describe emotion and atmosphere through setting description and speech.

At the end of the morning, the children had an Oracy/PSHE lesson.

In the afternoon, the children used watercolours to portray a mood (e.g. the wintery scenes – blue and white). They

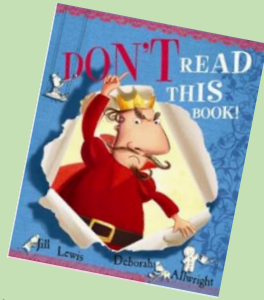

Learning in Hazel Class

'Don't Read this Book!'

The children shared this book together and created individual front covers, along with a command sentence persuading others not to read the book.

In art, the children were inspired by the different lands (from different fairytales) dotted throughout the book. The children then used their imagination to create an imaginative world and characters based on the book.

Learning in Oak Class

'Abomination'

Year 6 have been looking at this text in detail over the term so far. They chose to continue working with it for World Book Day in order to explore the characters a little further.

The children predicted what their character 'Abomination', from their class book would look like. They used evidence from what they have read so far to draw conclusions. They then wrote about what it would be like to meet the creature.

Save the date!

EDGELETS

Thursday 14th March

9.30-10.30

(School Hall)

For pre-school children and new starters 😊

Learning in Pine Class

'Here we are'.

In Year 2 the children focused on Miss Kelly's favourite author – Oliver Jeffers!

They have already read lots of his books in Year 1 and this year they focused on 'Here we Are'. The book has an important message about how special our planet is and making sure we spend the time doing what we love.

The children wrote instructions for an Alien who was visiting our planet for the first time. In the afternoon Year 2 created planets using pointillism and finished the day being 'mystery readers' for Holly Class. Each child chose their own book to share with the youngest children in our school. They loved this responsibility!

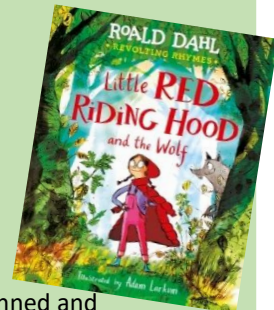

Learning in Willow Class

'Little Red Riding Hood – Revolting Rhymes'

Year 3 started the day by looking at book covers and their function and design. They then read/listened to the poem written by Roald Dahl.

Throughout the morning, the children planned and wrote an alternative ending for the poem Little Red Riding Hood.

We will learn about the author and create a fact-file. The children will design an alternative cloak for Red Riding Hood.

Wooden Spoon Character Competition Wow! Wow! Wow!

With over 140 entries to this competition, we have been completely blown away with the creativity and effort the children and their adults at home have gone to.

Thank you to everyone who took part in the competition I am so glad the judging, on this occasion, was not down to me! We invited Mrs Waddington, a school governor, to judge the entries during one of her visits to school.

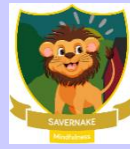

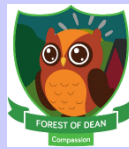

We held a celebration assembly on Friday to announce not only our writers of the week and award other recognition certificates, but to also announce our competition winners.

Well done both of you – enjoy spending your voucher! ☺

This term's House Points results...

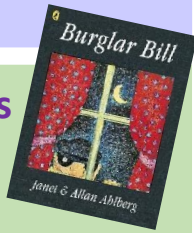

House points will roll over to next week!

WELL, DONE EVERYONE! ☺☺☺

Learning in Holly Class

'Burglar Bill'

In Holly Class, the children took part in lots of role-play linked to the books of focus. They created a piece of writing and a drawing and shared lots of reading opportunities across the day with their friends, with adults and with older children from Year 2.

Netball

Small Schools Tournament 2024

On Wednesday, myself and Mrs May took our school netball team to Mangotsfield Secondary school to take part in their annual Small School Tournament organised by CSET.

Throughout the tournament, we played matches against five other local primary schools. We won four of our matches and drew one. The team were excellent! 😊

As a result of their hard work we were announced as the winners and the children were presented with gold medals.

Winning the tournament automatically qualifies us for the Small Schools County Final at Bristol Grammar School on the 16th of April.

Wish us luck! 😊

Parents Evening

Thank you to all of our parents who came along to parents evening this week. It is vital that the time is given for parents to speak with class teachers about their child's progress and overall experiences at school. It is a great opportunity to ask questions or raise concerns if you have them. We do hope you found the sessions useful.

If for any reason, you were unable to make your session or book a meeting, please contact the school office to organise a convenient time.

SEND parents evening will take place next Tuesday 12th March.

Thank you for your ongoing support. 😊
